JAG INSTRUCTION 3300.1A

From: Judge Advocate General

Subj: JAG Billets Requiring Special or Detailed Knowledge of the Law of Armed Conflict and Training Objectives for Navy Judge Advocates in such Billets

Ref: (a) SECNAVINST 3300.1A
(b) CNO Memo 00/500402 of 19 Aug 1980 (NOTAL)
(c) OPNAVINST 3300.52

Encl: (1) Detailed Knowledge Billets
(2) Special Knowledge Billets
(3) Special Knowledge Training Objectives
(4) Detailed Knowledge Training Objectives

1. Purpose. To publish a revised listing of JAG billets which have been identified as requiring the incumbent to have detailed or special knowledge of the law of armed conflict, and to repromulgate training objectives for Navy judge advocates assigned to such billets.

2. Cancellation. JAG Instruction 3300.1.

3. Information

a. Reference (a) requires the Judge Advocate General to formulate broad objectives for training programs, and to ensure training in the law of armed conflict of Navy judge advocates assigned to billets requiring detailed knowledge of the law of armed conflict. This instruction lists those billets requiring judge advocates with detailed or special knowledge of the law of armed conflict. It is anticipated that the incumbents of the detailed knowledge billets listed in enclosure (1) will be required to devote considerable time and expertise to aspects of the Law of Armed Conflict Program, while the incumbents of the special knowledge billets listed in enclosure (2) will spend only part time on this subject.

b. In reference (b), the Chief of Naval Operations emphasized to certain officers in command the importance of involving their staff judge advocates in the formulation and review of rules of engagement, operations, plans, and other aspects of combat operations to ensure their consistency with U.S. law and policy and the international law of armed conflict. In reference (c) the CNO required officers in command, commensurate with their levels of responsibility, to ensure that their judge advocates have been granted appropriate clearances and access to classified information to carry out their responsibilities under reference (a) and this instruction.

c. The JAG will take steps to ensure that personnel assigned to the billets listed in both enclosures (1) and (2) are adequately trained in accordance with the training objectives set forth in enclosures (3) and (4) so as to be able to advise their commanders independently and expeditiously on all matters involving questions of U.S. law and policy and the international law of armed conflict.

4. Action

a. All Navy judge advocates assigned to the billets listed in enclosures (1) and (2) shall receive sufficient training in the law of armed conflict to meet the appropriate objectives listed in enclosures (3) and (4).

b. Addressees are requested to review enclosures (1) and (2) for completeness. Recommendations for additions or deletions to either list should be submitted to JAG (Codes 10 and 61).

c. Addressees with billets listed in enclosures (1) and (2) are requested to advise JAG (Code 61) of requirements for training in the law of armed conflict of present and prospective incumbents.

JUDGE ADVOCATE
DETAILED KNOWLEDGE TRAINING OBJECTIVES

1. Purpose. To enable judge advocates assigned to billets requiring detailed knowledge of the law of armed conflict to review operations and contingency plans, targeting lists and rules of engagement; to serve as legal adviser on issues regarding the threat or use of force in peace or war; and to provide detailed advice with regard to law of armed conflict training independently and expeditiously.

2. Objectives. In addition to meeting the special knowledge objectives:
  - a. Use of force. Understand, recall and explain the distinction between self-defense (including forcible self-help and anticipatory self-defense) and reprisal; the limitations on and distinctions between naval quarantine, embargo, blockade, and mining; the collateral issues surrounding deployment of military forces in peacetime, e.g., staging, landing, ports of visit, and overflight rights; limitations in treaties, status of forces agreements, and other defense agreements regarding the use of overseas facilities, equipment, and forces for military action not directly related to the defense of the host country; U.S. domestic law restrictions on the employment of U.S. forces; the practical limitations of the War Powers Resolution; and peacetime rules of engagement.

  - b. Operations and contingency plans, rules of engagement and their legal review. Understand, recall and explain the background and purpose for each, the promulgation and review process, and the mechanics of their review.

  - c. Protected persons. Understand, recall and explain the implications and effect of U.S. policy with regard to temporary refuge, political asylum, and refugees; the status of U.S. civilians overseas, including civilian employees of the military services, and their possible effect on operational planning; and policy regarding detained and retained persons, civilians and prisoners of war taken by U.S. forces, including current initiatives for host-nation agreements.

Enclosure (4)

22 AUG 1983

d. Weapons. Understand, recall and explain the legal and political restrictions on the employment of certain munitions in the U.S. inventory (e.g., RCAs, CBW, and incendiaries), and the authority to employ those weapons.

e. Targeting. Understand and explain the juxtaposition between the requirements of the law of armed conflict and service doctrine regarding fire support coordination, targeting, and weapons selection.

f. The role and function of the judge advocate in operational planning. Understand and explain the structure for operational planning and decision-making; operations center procedures; and the role and function of the judge advocate in each.

g. The DOD Law of War Program. Understand, recall and explain the relevant directives regarding law of armed conflict training, and the reporting of violations of the law of armed conflict.
